

Dr. Burnice Jarman Talks About Academic Freedom

• "ACADEMIC FREEDOM In Our Time" will be the topic of Dr. Burnice H. Jarman, professor of education and dean of the summer sessions, in a Mortar Board Last Lecture address November 28.

The lecture, to be held in Lisner lounge at 8:30 p.m., is the second of five planned this year by the senior women's honorary. Each speaker chooses the topic he might use in his last appearance before a class.

According to Dr. Jarman, the very core of a university—and the difference between a university in a free world and one in a totalitarian world—lies in freedom to think and to experiment. In this connection he asks, do American students have a certain "iron curtain" in terms of resistance to unorthodox thought? Are American students free to learn from an uncoerced faculty?

Dr. Jarman became director of the summer sessions in February 1951. In September 1955, his title became dean of the summer sessions. He served as registrar and secretary of faculties at the University from 1944 to 1947.

The dean has served with the U. S. Office of Education as a member of the U. S. Civil Service Committee of Expert Examiners since 1950. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership honorary, Phi Delta Kappa, education professional organization, and Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary.

Dr. Jarman took his master of arts and doctor of education degrees from the University. He has been a member of the faculty, teaching history and philosophy of education, since 1939.

27 Girls Get Medallions

• UNIVERSITY President, Cloyd H. Marvin presented medallions of honor to twenty-seven members of the University's Angel Flight in ceremonies last Wednesday at Mitchell parade ground.

Dr. Marvin's citation recognized the girls for "their untiring effort and exemplary conduct . . . their interest and devotion," which, he said, "have contributed much to the success of the Air Force ROTC group and have brought favorable recognition to the . . . University and the United States Air Force."

Angel Flight members honored were Barbara Suse, Mary Ann Alderson, Carol Price, Nancy Oliver, Nancy Beale, Angela Gnotta, Jean Fassett, Claire Chennault and Sheila Lane.

Also, Janet Marshall, Anne Bageant, Rowena McCrae, Mary Rowe, Mary Hoffman, Nancy Jones, Ruth Reagan, Faye Callaway and Barbara Johnson.

Also, Barbara Fessler, Katherine Cockey, Glenda Beauchamp, Marilyn Greer, May Crouch, Sandra Monti, Sylvia West, Kyra Mosel and Vaughn Adkinson.

Guests at the ceremonies included Brig. Gen. Cecil E. Combs, Air Force deputy director of personnel procurement and training; Col. Phyllis D. S. Gray, director of women in the Air Force; Col. W. J. Wrigglesworth, chief of the Air Force professional education division; University Dean of Faculties O. S. Colclough and Miss Virginia R. Kirkbride, director of activities for women.

The Angel Flight was organized at the University last year. It participates in parades, ceremonies and other activities with AFROTC cadets.

Annual Opens Sales Contest

• THE CHERRY TREE, University yearbook, is sponsoring a contest among fraternities and sororities as part of its 1956 sales campaign.

The winning organization will receive two pages in the candid picture section of the book. The contest opened yesterday and will continue through November 29.

The fraternity and sorority receiving credit for sales of the most Cherry Trees will be the winners of the contest. The buyer does not necessarily have to be a member of the group credited, contest rules state, and there is no limit to the number of books purchased by one individual.

Buyers must designate at the time of the purchase which group will receive credit for his book, and credit will be noted on his receipt. Winners will be announced at the end of the sales campaign.

Sales booths will be open in the Student Union lobby this week, Monday through Thursday, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and from 5 to 7 p.m. The School of Pharmacy booths will be open today and tomorrow from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

Veterans

• KOREAN VETERANS must sign their monthly certification in the Office of Veterans' Education December 3 or 4. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on those dates.

Booths in the Law School will be open today and November 29 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 5 to 6 p.m. Engineering School booths will be open next Monday from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The price of the yearbook is $6.00. The Cherry Tree is not included in the 1956-57 Campus Combo.

The annual is also sponsoring the 1957 Cherry Tree Queen Contest. Candidates will be chosen from the eleven sororities on campus, Strong Hall and the Wandering Greek society.

Delta Gamma's Moon-Maidens Take Goat Show's First Place

by Sandra Sweadner

• DELTA GAMMA'S silver-tinted denizens of the moon clamored to the stage of Lisner auditorium to claim first place at the annual Goat Show last Friday night.

Following the over-all theme "Travel Daze," the DG pledges presented "Piffittt to Moon U" with Patricia Martin as pledge in charge. Second place went to Kappa Kappa Gamma's "Der Student Who Was Un Prince," directed by pledge Jean Mollohan. Zeta Tau Alpha took third spot with "It's in the Book," under the direction of pledge Virginia O'Donohue.

Master of ceremonies was Dr. L. Poe Leggett, Depew professor of speech at the University, who entertained the audience during the intermission with such numbers as "Basin Street," "Jezebel" and "You Gotta Be a Football Hero."

Food Donated

Sue Thayer, president of the Junior Panhellenic council, presented to Dr. Albert Croft of the Washington Federation of Churches a collection of canned food taken at admission. The food will be distributed among the needy in the Washington area.

Council Absence

• THE FOLLOWING MEMBERS of the Student Council were absent from the meeting November 13:

Ronald Lubman, School of Pharmacy representative.

Tony Lane, School of Engineering representative.

Represented by proxy were: Ray Garcia, vice president; Doris Rosenberg, activities director; Sandra Shoemaker, Columbian College representative; Nancy Wilson, School of Engineering representative.

competed with original skits. Judging the skits were Mrs. Eva M. Johnson, assistant professor of psychology, Carr B. Lavell, assistant dean in the Junior College and Chester H. McCall, assistant professor of statistics.

Poster Contest

First place in the Goat Show poster contest, sponsored by Junior Panhellenic, went to Pi Beta Phi. Delta Gamma and Delta Zeta received honorable mention. Elizabeth Burtner, professor of physical education for women, judged the poster contest.

Junior Panhel, composed of delegates from each sorority pledge class, sponsors the Goat Show annually to build pledge spirit and to foster inter-sorority cooperation.

Council Members

Serving under Miss Thayer on the council are Bay Carter of Kappa Kappa Gamma, vice-president; Sheila McKeown, Delta Gamma, secretary; Pat Pierson, Kappa Alpha Theta, treasurer; Nancy Oldham, Pi Beta Phi, social chairman; Julie Klessling, Sigma Kappa, historian, and Judy Wilson, Chi Omega, publicity chairman.

Other delegates are Toni Yim, Delta Zeta; Elsie Mandis, Kappa Delta; Elsie Baker, Alpha Delta Pi, and Gregg Mayer, Phi Sigma Sigma. Tilli Mossesso, vice president of the Panhellenic Council, is Junior Panhel adviser, and Mrs. J. Buckley Sullivan, assistant director of women's activities, is administration adviser.

Religion-in-Life Week Holds Skeptics' Hour

• RELIGION-IN-LIFE Week at the University will continue through tomorrow afternoon.

The traditional "Skeptics' Hour" will be held from 2:30 to 4 p.m. today in Monroe 100. Dr. Fred S. Tupper, professor of English literature, will moderate the discussion. Participants will be Dr. Charles D. Kean, pastor of the Church of the Epiphany; Rabbi David H. Panitz of Adas Israel Congregation, and the Rev. Jerome A. Miller, assistant pastor of St. Stephen's Church and chaplain of the Newman club at the University.

Inter-group discussion programs are planned for 8 p.m. tonight. Dr. Arthur S. Fleming, director of the office of defense mobilization, will address Protestant students in Woodhull house. Catholic students will hear the Most Rev. Philip M. Hannan, auxiliary bishop of Washington, in Lisner lounge. Rabbi Aaron Seidman, director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel foundation at the University, will address Jewish students at Hillel House.

Class Room Lectures

Classroom lectures scheduled for tomorrow are: in Social Psychology, Monroe 206, 9:10 to 10 a.m., Dr. Winfred Overholser, superintendent of Saint Elizabeth's Hospital, on "The Importance of Mental Health," and in Government of the United States, Government 1, 9:10 to 10 a.m., Dr. Robert A. Bauer, chief of the European division of the Voice of America, on "Europe Today."

William H. Stringer, chief of the Washington News Bureau of the Christian Science Monitor, will speak on "The Rising Ideals in Journalism" in the Survey of American Journalism class in Monroe 206 from 10:10 to 11 a.m.

More Addresses

In the Stockton 21, at 11:10 a.m. Dr. Charles D. Kean, pastor of the church of the Epiphany, will lecture on "The Place of Religion in Law," while at the same time in the Department of Speech, in studio A of Lisner auditorium, Dr. Mohamed Bisar, director of the Islamic Center, will speak on "Islam as a Religion."

Finally, in the department of home economics in building B from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., Mrs. Clarence T. Nelson, 1954 "Mother of the Year" and member of the board of higher education of Augustana National Church, will talk on "Hearthstone Religion."

NANCY BEALE, DR. MARVIN . . . awarding medallion of honor

New Music Room Complete by June

• UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT Cloyd H. Marvin announced last week that a music appreciation room will be established in the University library by the end of the school year.

The Panhellenic Council will donate proceeds from their promotion of a fashion show, sponsored by the National League of American Pen Women, held November 7 in Lisner auditorium. Gate and Key, fraternity men's honorary, and Delphi, sorority women's honorary, are also planning music room promotion projects.

The music project is the beginning of the development of an arts appreciation program at the University. Dr. Marvin commented last week. The experiment has developed from the fundamental need for more art appreciation facilities at the University, he said.

The music parlor will include collections of records and music appreciation books. A university staff member, aided by student assistants, will serve in the room.

PIDE Initiates

• PJ DELTA EPSILON, national Journalism honorary, will hold winter initiation ceremonies and its semi-annual banquet December 1.

The initiation will be held at 7 p.m. in Lisner auditorium. The banquet will follow at 8 p.m.

Initiates are Robert C. Wilson, assistant professor of Journalism; Paul Welch, member of the HATCHET board of editors; Clifton T. Hilderley, editor-in-chief of Amicus Curiae, and Terry Roof and Ronnie West, Cherry Tree associate editors.

The program will include informal presentations of composers and their works, in addition to regular facilities for listening.

C. Max Farrington Speaks At ODK Initiation Dinner

• C. MAX FARRINGTON, assistant to the president of the University, addressed thirty-five members of Omicron Delta Kappa, national men's leadership fraternity, at an initiation dinner held at the Kennedy-Warren Hotel last Wednesday.

Mr. Farrington spoke on the University's redevelopment plans, emphasizing that the future holds virtually limitless possibilities for physical expansion. Recently, the District Redevelopment Commission allotted the University thirty-eight city blocks in the Foggy Bottom area for extension of its physical plant.

"Our ultimate aim," said Mr. Farrington, "is to have the University front on Pennsylvania Avenue. This includes the construction of a law center in that area and a new medical school in the vicinity of the hospital."

Redevelopment Plans

Other plans call for a mammoth field house near 22nd and E sts., n.w., housing a gymnasium and other athletic facilities, said Mr. Farrington.

The University has been granted the right to purchase all of the Gate and Key

• GATE AND KEY, fraternity men's honorary, will meet at 9:30 p.m. tonight at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

property in the zone allotted to it. Landlords refusing to sell at a "fair price" may be brought before an arbitration board to present their case, Mr. Farrington said.

New Initiates

Eight new members were initiated into ODK at the conclusion of the dinner. They were Ray Garcia, vice-president of the Student Council; Eugene Horowitz, advertising manager of the HATCHET; Jim Newheiser, Student Council comptroller; Charles Thompson, vice-president of the Student Bar association; Larry Wiger, past Law School representative to the Student Council; Walter Baumann, outstanding AFROTC cadet; and Charles A. Hobbs, editor of the Law Review and past editor of Amicus Curiae.

Dr. Calvin D. Linton, associate dean of the Columbian College and professor of English literature was initiated as an honorary member.

Players' Publish 'Girl Crazy' Cast

• THE TENTATIVE CAST of the University Players' production of "Girl Crazy" was selected last week.

Appearing in women's roles will be Ann Mitchell, Beverly Borden, Beverly Alexander, Doris Lee Weinberg, Patsy Martin and Lark Lataner.

Cast in male roles are Len Phillips, Bill Dotson, Bernie Passeltiner, Jim Tucker, Edward Rutsch, Paul Garner, Bert Minikin, Brownie Green, Chuck Forbes, Jerry Osbourne and Grover Boyson.

The musical will be presented December 14 and 15 in Lisner auditorium. It features songs by George and Ira Gershwin, including "I Got Rhythm," "Bidin' My Time," "Embraceable You," "Sam and Delilah" and "But Not For Me."

The story is concerned with a playboy sent to the Golden West by a millionaire father who hopes that his vagabond son will forget his fondness for alcohol and the fair sex in the great open spaces.

The playboy, who has traveled west in a taxi, opens a dude ranch in the formerly womanless town of Custerville, Arizona, and imports a girls' chorus from Broadway.

According to Ed Ferero, managing director of University dramatic activities, positions are still open in the chorus and technical crew of the production. Auditions for violinists, to play in the accompanying orchestra, will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Lisner auditorium.

Orator Uses Disarmament

• COLONEL RAYMOND B. Firehock will be guest speaker at the University's annual high school discussion conference, to be held December 4 in Lisner auditorium.

Col. Firehock is deputy staff director in the office of the special assistant to the President on disarmament.

"What should be the policy of the United States on disarmament?" is the topic of this year's conference. Most Washington area public and private high schools have accepted the University's invitation to send ten delegates to the conference.

Director of the conference is Edwin L. Stevens, associate professor of speech. O. S. Colclough, dean of faculties, will welcome the delegates and introduce Col. Firehock.

A question period will follow Col. Firehock's talk. Delegates will then organize the conference, electing a president, vice president and secretary.

Afternoon discussion groups, made up of delegates, will be led by University students. Participants will voice their opinions on U. S. disarmament policies. During the final parliamentary session, delegates will pool their opinions and pass a resolution representing the conference view.

Student leaders of group discussions will be Beverly Borden, Eugene Lambert, George Kinnear II, A. C. Baker, Ermine L. Meeker, Judith Blickstein, Susan Smith, Phyllis Mignonone, Ruth Hornstein, Ellen Griffin and Jerry Reinsdorf.

The discussion conference has been an annual University function since 1948.

'56 Daisy Mae, L'il Abner Reign Over Square Dance

L'IL ABNER AND DAISY MAE

Bunny Miller, DG and Lennie Metallo, Pika

• BUNNY MILLER AND Lennie Metallo were chosen as the University's Daisy Mae and L'il Abner at the annual Sadie Hawkins square dance last Wednesday.

Miss Miller was sponsored by Flying Sponsors. Runners-up for the title of Daisy Mae were Rosanne Liggio, sponsored by Chi Omega sorority, and Patsy Martin, nominee of Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. Metallo was Pi Kappa Alpha's candidate. Dave Liddick, sponsored by Sigma Chi fraternity, and Dick Lehman, nominee of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity, placed second and third, respectively, in L'il Abner competition.

All candidates attended the dance dressed as the actual comic strip characters. They were judged on their resemblance to Al Capp's L'il Abner and Daisy Mae. Judges for the contest were Mrs. Eva M. Johnson, assistant professor of psychology; Carr B. Lavell, assistant dean in the Junior College, and Mildred H. Shott, assistant professor of secretarial studies.

The judging was followed by a two-act floor show. On the bill was a skit re-enacting the traditional Sadie Hawkins Day race, performed by Charlotte Brem, Judy Chaszar, Hau Vu and Dick Mills. The skit was directed by Mrs. Diane Gaumer, instructor in modern dance.

The square dance, which was held in building J from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m., featured the music of Bob Daniels and his Novellers, with Maurice Flowers calling.

Develop & Extend Your Capabilities

—At APL Where a Unique Combination of Industrial and Academic Approaches is Applied to R & D Problems

The Applied Physics Laboratory (APL) of The Johns Hopkins University, one of the country's leading R & D organizations, affords young men of above-average skill and originality unusual opportunities for rapid progress toward (1) professional specialization, or (2) technical administration or operations.

APL is unique in that it is neither an industrial nor an academic organization. Instead it is a composite of both, having drawn freely from the methodologies of each. Because of this, APL has managed to keep in the vanguard, having pioneered the proximity fuze, the first supersonic ramjet engine, and the missiles TERRIER, TALOS and TARTAR. APL has sole responsibility for the Navy's Bumblebee guided missile program, directs the work of 21 associate and sub-contractors, among them leading universities and industrial organizations.

Location & Facilities

As a result its staff members enjoy an interchange of ideas with members of these various organizations; have access to their facilities, in addition to the wealth of equipment available at APL's 350,000 sq. ft. laboratories midway between Washington, D. C. and Baltimore, and in Silver Spring, Md. In this environment men of originality and talent flourish. Salaries compare favorably with those of other R & D organizations; staff benefits are manifold, including a strong program of financial assistance for graduate work. Thanks For and If

• WE ARE THANKFUL FOR:

- ... the bells in Monroe hall;
- ... improved food in the Union;
- ... a new School of Engineering;
- ... the beginning of a music program;
- ... the birds and bees;
- ... more student interest in pep rallies and activities in general;
- ... Dean Kayser's Friday lectures;
- ... creamy rice pudding;
- ... a winning football team;
- ... our opportunity to think and act as free people, to go to school where we choose and to look to the future with hope, not fear.

WE WOULD BE THANKFUL IF:

- ... the Majorettes coordinated with the Band;
- ... people in Welling and Sorority halls wouldn't have to keep wondering when the buildings are going to collapse;
- ... people who are finished eating in the Union would leave the tables free for those who want to eat;
- ... there were no recurrence of the rudeness shown by some groups in the audience at the Goat Show;
- ... all students attended school functions;
- ... the Business office acted quickly on student activities requisitions;
- ... the juke box in the Union didn't play quite so loudly;
- ... all the draft boards in the country would close down.

HAPPY TURKEY DAY

Letters to the Editors

• DEAR EDITORS:

Finally justice has been done. The University Band has been fighting every inch of the way to keep a band for the students of George Washington University. We have faced many obstacles; such elements have been lacking as appropriations for music, uniforms, instruments, repairs and transportation, and a place to hold rehearsals.

The first battle has been won. The George Washington University Band, for the first time in three years, not only has facilities for the storage of instruments and music, but also has a place in which to hold weekly rehearsals. This consideration is greatly appreciated.

We of the band wish to serve you, the student body; but your support is needed in order for us to continue our program and further our service to the University.

A band member

Council Capers

by Rhoda Ezrin

• A COMMITTEE HEADED by Law School representative Ray Kline reported to the Student Council that it believes a plan, whereby activities whose chairmen are selected by the Council would present periodic reports to the Council, should be devised. Such a system, the committee pointed out, would insure effective control over the activities by the Council and would give Council members an opportunity to observe the work of the people they have chosen for the various positions.

This proposal, passed by the Student Council at the last meeting, provides for the assignment of the dates of reporting by the Council President at his discretion. The first report is to be submitted well enough in advance of the date of the event under consideration to satisfy the Council that the chairmen are planning and laying the groundwork for their project.

A second report is to be scheduled at a time when all arrangements for the event should have been made. The third and final report would be after the completion of the project. At this time, chairmen would report as to the number of persons attending and the plan for the disposition of their treasures.

An important provision in the proposal is that all reports should be written, as well as oral, and maintained in a file. All reports would be considered mandatory reading for future chairmen.

Bob Shuken, Student Union chairman, reminded the Council that girls are not allowed to enter the Union in slacks or shorts. This rule will be strictly enforced as well as all rules pertaining to the use of the Union. To this end, all infractions of regulations are to be reported to the Student Union manager. Mr. Shuken also said that a suggestion box has been installed in the Union lobby.

The Council approved the sponsoring of a drive to collect eyeglasses or parts of eyeglasses for use by the Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Herb Silver, member-at-large will be in charge.

Casey Leaves GW For Arena Stage

by Conrad Tuohy

• ETHEL CASEY Shreiner, former University co-director of drama and secretary in the Law School for the past three years, left us last week to join her husband in the Arena Stage permanent cast.

Many upper-classmen will best remember the grand job she did as producer of "George Washington Slept Here" and "Detective Story" in the 1954-55 school year.

CASEY SCHREINER

as well as the Homecoming Pep Rally and the All-University Follies.

Casey, as she is known to everyone, has had more than a casual interest in the University. Her husband, Warner, is a George Washington University drama grad.

Casey is a drama graduate of the University of Syracuse and has been quite active on the local stage. She has appeared with the Arena group before in a "jobbing in" basis along with many other drama enthusiasts from the University. The Arena Stage maintains a regular cast of eight players which is supplemented by these part-time players and other imported talent, usually from New York.

Her 13-year-old son Tim, however, does not share in the family's stage interests. But they pack up en masse every summer anyway and take off for summer stock.

Best of luck, Casey—we'll be looking for you on stage.

Inquiring Reporter

by Bunny Miller

• ELVIS PRESLEY, the teen-age dream man, is much in the spotlight lately. Therefore, to keep up with the trend of the times, the Inquiring Reporter asked G. W. lites last week, "What is your opinion of Elvis Presley?"

Sandy Morrison—"Has he had his rabies shots? He's a throwback. I don't know to what, but he's a real throwback. Just miserable."

Joyce Baggett—"He's fun to listen to, but awful looking. He exists on sex. Terrible!"

John Beaver—"Although many adults don't appreciate his style, I think that he is a truly great entertainer with tremendous audience appeal."

Deanna McDonald—"I like him. Really, he is great, but talked down too much."

Morna Campbell—"He isn't bad; some say one thing about him and some say another. 'Love Me Tender' is pretty good."

Cece LeSturgeon—"He is disgusting and vulgar. I don't think that he will last long. The sooner he fades the better."

Carol Wilson—"I like him once in a while, but he gets sickening if you hear too much of him. He does sing differently than anyone else, and although it may not be of a lasting quality, I think he is here to stay."

Ernie Auerbach and Ron Lubman—"Elvis Presley represents an appeal for teenagers' desire for an emotional outlet. On analysis he appears to be a male counterpart of a burlesque queen—limited talent but a great deal of motion. However, many people who refuse to watch him perform do not object to his records. He is probably a fad."

EGGHEADS' CORNER

Al Rode

• THERE WAS A time, not long ago (and there may be again), when there were no people at all on this world. No one had heard of horsepower, except as it affected the steeds and mares themselves, and there were no gleaming chrome antennas protruding from every roof. In fact, civilization, as it was known, was a pretty placid and colorless thing, abounding only in those worthless values of family, toil and senseless play. And yet it appears, miracle of miracles, that the animals of Gambia were a strangely happy lot. They laughed a lot and kidded each other and if historians are to be believed, they didn't even have a single psychiatrist.

Imperialism

But all of this was changed on a dark and dreary morning in October. The cries of the chimpanzees resounded through the jungle. Elephants tooted and lions roared and the chipmunks chattered wildly in the trees. Strange stories carried over the grapevines, and distant travelers told tales of unbelievable occurrences.

Finally, after weeks of unrest among the city dwellers, official messages were received by King Hare, the constitutional monarch of Gambia. He read each one assiduously, and for the first time in the peaceful little country's history, an emergency meeting of the governing council was called. They gathered under the protective shade of a giant oak and King Hare thumped his tail for silence.

"Gentlemen," said King Hare—and all the council members grinned proudly at the title—"we are faced with a most serious situation. I have received reports that a strange new monster, furred from head to toe and possessed with a destructive set of bicusps, has invaded our neighboring country of Euphilia. The Euphilians are fighting bravely, but the power of the monster has been too great. He has virtually unseated the present government and they are asking for our help."

Compromise

The council members chattered wildly to each other, their faces filled with the fears of memory.

"No, no," said a pock-marked pig as he was recognized by the king. "We mustn't get involved in this thing. Our animals are tired of wars and fighting."

"That's right," growled a toothless old lion. "As long as the monsters stay on their side of the jungle, we've got no quarrel with them."

There weren't many dissenters among the council members. After all, elections were coming up again. How could they hope to get the votes of the old sows and mares and mother hippopotami?

Diplomatic Element

And so, amid rumors of bestiality and famine in Euphilia, the Gambolians continued their lives of leisure, interrupted only momentarily by little sad thoughts on the fate that had befallen their jungle neighbors. After a while, the chattering of the jungle subsided and nothing more was heard from Euphilia, until one day, a golden carriage trimmed in red made its way to the capital of Gambia. The windows were heavily veiled, but everyone recognized the Euphilian driver who somehow looked like he had aged immeasurably in the past few weeks.

As the carriage pulled up in front of the King's palace, a frightening figure emerged, clad in the striped pants of a diplomat and a waistcoat and a top hat. Only the blood-streaked butcher's apron clashed incongruously with the rest of the outfit. The monster smiled pleasantly at all the animals and spoke in dulcet tones, telling them how glad he was to make their acquaintance.

"Gee, he's not so bad," said Butch the Baboon.

"I bet there was a good reason he had to get rid of those Euphilians," added Warren the Weasel. "Yea," said Shorty the Snake. "I never trusted them guys much anyway."

Power Politics

King Hare was pretty impressed with the monster's diplomatic bearing, too, and he offered to open diplomatic relations with the newly created country of Monstrolia.

"It's really a good thing we didn't go to war over Euphilia," King Hare was reported to have said, "these monsters aren't really so bad after all."

Actually, that was the good king's last official statement, for in a week, the monsters had marched into Gambia and feasted on the juicy flesh of the pock-marked council member.

Many years later, in a land across the vast expanse of the ocean, there still existed animals who had not learned the lessons of Gambia's history.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Sibler

by Hester Heale

WHAT SOME PEOPLE won't do to win the Goat Show! I am still trying to figure out how the Delta Gamma pledges ever got that silver paint off. I thought we were going to see silver faces around campus for weeks to come.

Pledge Formals were the vogue last Saturday night with ADPI, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Beta Phi presenting their pledges. The Pi Phi made merry before the dance on champagne punch at Lou Bernard's house and rumor has it that some notables never made it to the dance after the party (but it was only a block, fellas!). Myra Little was in attendance leading the group in On Brave Old Army Team, and others present were Bev Borden and Bill Dunning, boy Pi K-A and president of the Arrow Fan club, Linda Wagener and Bill Telasky, newly pledged Phi Sig, Molly Lukens and Phi Sig Dick Cunningham, Kay Fallo and Phi Sig Bill Cartright, Pepita Lassalle and Delt Roger Turner, Elva Schroebl and Ed Crump, Jone SAE, Tania Akhonin and Navy star Ned Oldham, and more.

Meanwhile at the Phi Alpha house, the boys were taking their frat song seriously and devouring that marvelous combination of chicken and gin (!) No one got ill, but those working at it included Stanley Smith and June Danziger, Len Wartofsky and Dominique Ponsin, guests Dave Liddick and Dick Claypool, and many others.

The SPEs celebrated a "November 17th Fest" in the newly redecorated first floor of the house, with dance exhibitions by Bob Schmidt and Liz Gilbanks. Moral support was supplied by Dave Glendenning and KD Phyllis Mighone, Humphrey Judson and SE Frannie Foltz, new pledge Al Melunas and DZ pledge Anna Jirgens Moondog, and Independent Mary Kay Patterson, Jerry Aulisio and DZ Tillie Mosesso. Ed Van Duyn and DZ pledge Alice Lowe thought Dick Wardell and Val Berman were there, but couldn't find them.

Down old Q street the Acacia house was deserted as the loyal brothers defended the honor of the G. W. chapter in the annual football game with the Philadelphia chapter. The game was played at the break of dawn but few remembered, or cared, what the score was as brothers of both chapters soothed their aches and pains and enjoyed the Philadelphia chapter's lavish pre-Thanksgiving cocktail party and orchestra dance that evening.

Sigma Chi and Zeta Tau Alphas got together for a rip roaring exchange this past week-end. A new version of musical chairs highlighted the evening, while the Zetas were fascinated by the puppy the Sigs have adopted for a mascot. "Dancing in the Dark" were Dottie Locke, Al Pope, Joy Donahue, Hal Bergem, Ruthie Reagan, dashing man about campus Mike Sullivan, Maggie Cannon and Gary Hodge.

The brothers of Sigma Chi take pleasure in announcing the pinning of Vern Yates to Patty Forman, the "girl back home" in Gibson City, Illinois. Kappa Alpha Theta, just to keep in the act, announces the pinning of Ginny Roehr to Maryland University AEPI Barry Paur, while in Phi Alpha, Jay Peikin has become engaged to Barbara Green of Philadelphia.

Delta Zeta "Girl of the Month" for November is Anna Jirgens. Each month a different girl is chosen to be honored by her sorority sisters and what a deal! Free dinners, no house duties. . . . Wonder if I could qualify? . . .

Must toddle on now. Hope you chaps all have tremendous blasts over Thanksgiving. Don't eat too much turkey.

Li'l Abner Imitates La Presley, Daisy Enjoys Foreign Affairs

by Gregg Mayer

THE "ONCE A YEAR" Day of Dogpatch occurred with much festivity in Foggy Bottom last week. "Sadie Hawkins Day" was celebrated with a square dance for all and the choosing of Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae. While the contestants danced with one another, the three judges appraised the blonde, polka-dotted Daisy Maes and the lanky, roguish Li'l Abners. The final choice was Bunny Miller, sponsored by the Flying Sponsors, and Lennie Metallo, sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Bunny hails from New Mexico and is a junior majoring in foreign affairs. An active member of Delta Gamma sorority, she is also the assistant features editor of the HATCHET and special projects chairman of the Booster board. With all these activities, Bunny has kept up a 3.6 Q.P.I. and still finds time to work as publicity chairman of Panhel and to accompany groups on the piano. Since high school, she has been an accompanist for various occasions and recently worked with the DG pledge class for the Goat Show Friday night.

This year's Daisy Mae would like to go into the field of journalism after graduation, perhaps to do magazine work. With all her HATCHET and extra-curricular activities experience, she can't go wrong in any field.

Also from the Yokum menage we have Lennie Metallo, a freshman at the University. Lennie is a native Washingtonian, and vice-president of the Pike pledge class. Majoring in business administration he spends a great deal of his spare time playing the guitar and singing with a dance band known as the "Starlanders." As most of us already know, this 6'3" Li'l Abner also impersonates Elvis Presley and other singers.

A sports enthusiast, Lennie wishes there were a track team here, and would like to start one next year. In the meantime, the Rowing club, the Newman club, performances and just plain schoolwork keep this versatile lad busy.

Runners-up in the Daisy Mae competition were Rosanne Liggio, sponsored by Chi Omega sorority, and Pat Martin, sponsored by Delta Gamma sorority. Dave Liddick, Sigma Chi fraternity's candidate, and Dick Lehman, nominated by Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity, placed second and third.

LITTLE STORIES WITH BIG MORALS

First Little Story

Once upon a time when the inventors of the airplane were very small boys, the roof on their house developed a terrible leak. A repairman was called to fix it. He set his ladder against the side of the house, but it was a very tall house and his ladder was not quite long enough to reach the roof.

"Sir, we have an idea," said the boys who even at that tender age were resourceful little chaps. "We will get up on top of the ladder and boost you up on the roof."

So the boys climbed to the top of the ladder, and the repairman came after them, and they tried to boost him up on the roof. But, alas, the plan did not work and they all came tumbling down in a heap.

MORAL: Two Wrights don't make a rung.

Second Little Story

Once upon a time a German exchange student came from Old Heidelberg to an American university. One night there was a bull session going on in the room next to his. "Ach, excuse me," he said timidly to the group of young men assembled there, "aber what is that heavenly smell I smell?"

"Why, that is the fragrant aroma of our Philip Morris cigarettes," said one of the men.

"Himmel, such natural tobacco goodness!"

"It comes in regular size in the handy Snap-Open pack, or in long size in the new crushproof box. . . . Won't you try one?"

"Dankeschön," said the German exchange student happily, and from that night forward, whenever the men lit up Philip Morris Cigarettes, he never failed to be present.

MORAL: Where there's smoke, there's Meyer.

Third Little Story

Once upon a time Penelope, the wife of Ulysses, had herself a mess of trouble in Ithaca. With her husband away at the Trojan War, all the local blades were wooing Penelope like crazy. She stalled them by saying she wouldn't make her choice until she finished weaving a rug. Each night when her suitors had gone home, Penelope, that sly-minx, would unravel all the weaving she had done during the day.

Well sir, one night she left her rug lying outside. It rained buckets, and the rug got all matted and shrunken, and Penelope couldn't unwind it. When the suitors came back in the morning, the poor frantic woman started running all over the house looking for a place to hide.

Well sir, it happened that Sappho, the poetess, had come over the night before to write an ode about Penelope's Grecian urn. So she said, "Hey, Penelope, why don't you hide in this urn? I think it's big enough if you'll kind of squinch down."

So Penelope hopped in the urn, and it concealed her perfectly except for her hair-do which was worn upswept in the Greek manner.

Well sir, with the suitors pounding on the door, Sappho had to move fast. She whipped out a razor and cut off Penelope's hair. The suitors looked high and low but they couldn't find Penelope.

MORAL: A Penny shaved is a Penny urned.

Law Society Enters Finals

• THE LAW SCHOOL'S Case club will compete in the finals of the national Moot Court competition in New York City December 19, 20 and 21.

The University team was runner-up in regional competition, finishing second to Georgetown University in area finals held last Friday night at the District of Columbia Municipal court.

Georgetown, as defending national champion, automatically sends a team to the national finals. Thus the University team, although second place winner, will also compete for the national championship.

Next Dance Uses 'Continental Trot'

• THE "CONTINENTAL TROT" is the theme of the next all-University social dance, to be held November 30 from 9 p.m. to midnight in the Student Union.

Co-sponsored by the Law School and the School of Government, the dance will feature flags of many nations, a monocled doorman and other continental touches.

Sigrid Weeks will recreate a Siamese dance, first presented last spring at the All-University Follies, as part of the intermission entertainment.

ENGINEERS:

Here's the way to a better life...with unusual opportunities and security!

This may well be the most important advertisement you will ever read.

Right here, in the area you know so well, one of the finest places in the world to raise a family and live a full, rewarding life, there are exceptionally promising opportunities for engineers.

Starting salaries are attractive. Chances for advancement have never been better. The gas industry is the sixth largest in the country. It has nearly 15 billion dollars in gross assets, employs 196,000 people, has 465,000 miles of pipeline, serves 28 million people coast-to-coast—and is considered one of the fastest growing industries today. Here at the Washington Gas Light Company, growth has been phenomenal. You'll find the vitality and spirit of this progressive company, now one of the largest in the industry, is contagious. Our engineering staff is top-flight. That means you will be working with really high-caliber men in an industry full of exciting challenges.

Most important, too, you will find an unusual degree of security here—freedom to concentrate on your work, marry, raise a family with peace of mind. Our retirement plan is completely paid for by the company.

Life and hospitalization insurance is partially paid for by the company. Sick leave benefits and vacation allowances are liberal and increase with length of service.

Seldom have young graduate engineers been face-to-face with so attractive a combination of good earnings, challenging work, career opportunities and security.

Today, the "grass is greenest" right in your own backyard.

Today, you can make the most important appointment of your life.

Get in touch with the Washington Gas Light Company for details on how you, in particular, can benefit from the rising tide of opportunities in the gas industry.

Reinhart Has Citadel Great Record

by Bill De La Vergne

UNLESS G. W.'s best football team in 20 years receives a bowl bid, it looks as if Coach Bill Reinhart and his hoopsters will be taking over the intercollegiate lime-light in Colonial athletics.

Coach Reinhart, who begins his 15th year as coach at the University, has amassed an excellent record of 229 wins as against 87 losses and has done much to bring national recognition to G. W. basketball teams in recent years.

This year he faces a major rebuilding job following the loss of four-season All-Southern Conference Joe Holup and other regulars, Joe Petcovich, George Klein and Jay Manning. However, Coach Reinhart figures he has sufficient replacements so that the Colonials will be almost as stubborn as ever. "We'll come along O. K.," he maintains.

The key to G. W.'s chances appears to hinge on some exceptional sophomores like Gene Guarilla, a 6-6 center who steps into Holup's shoes; Bucky McDonald, who is groomed for a guard spot with letterman Bill Telasky, and Bill Fackler who may start at forward with letterman Jack Jolly.

Ardie Baker and Dick Cilento, both 5-10, are the only seniors; 6-6 Jack Jolly and 6-4 Frank Morrison the juniors; and 6-2 Howie Bash the only freshman, on this year's sophomore dominated squad.

Other members of this year's squad who have shown promise during recent practice sessions and who probably will see some action this year are Ron Dearden, Bill Fackler, Sam Kinsley, Dick Carroll, Jerry Cooper, Ken Erickson and Ron Matalavage.

The Colonials' 22-game schedule will be composed of such formidable opponents as Wake Forest, North Carolina, N. C. State, Georgetown, Maryland, St. John's and Temple, in addition to their regular Southern Conference foes. To make things tougher, the Buff will be on the road for the most part of the season, playing only nine home games.

Also, during the Christmas holidays, G. W. will play in a four-team tournament in Cincinnati with Miami of Ohio, Fordham and Cincinnati.

Citadel

returned a punt to his 45. On third down with the ball on the Bulldog 49, Looney called an option play to his left. Ray kept the ball and headed diagonally toward the sidelines. Near the 35 he cut back beautifully to his right, shook off a would-be tackler around the 30, and crossed the goal line with no one near him. Spera converted to give the Buff a 13-0 lead.

Buff Ragged

G. W. scored again a few minutes later. The ball rested on the Buff 28 after two penalties had set back the Colonials. Colna charged for nine yards to make it third down and 13 yards to go on the 37. Spera then burst through the center of the line and streaked 53 yards before being brought down on the Citadel 10-yard line. Co-Captain Bo Austin ate up those 10 yards on the next play for the third Buff touchdown. Looney tried and made his first extra point of the year.

The Buff were ragged in the first half and couldn't cope with the inspired Bulldogs. G. W. did threaten in the closing minutes of the half, however, moving from their 28 to the Citadel three before being held. Colna put the drive in motion by gaining seven yards to his 35. Spera was held for no gain, but Colna picked up five more for a first down. Looney then made the first of his two long runs, a 51-yard jaunt on a keeper, to the Citadel ten.

Colna sliced to the six. Spera could pick up only one. Looney called his number again, moving down to the three. On fourth down Colna was held at the two-yard line as the threat sizzled.

Colonials End Season with 20-0 Win Hatchet Sports Beat Citadel For Seventh Victory

9—THE UNIVERSITY HATCHET, Tuesday, November 20, 1956

Phi Alpha, Delts Win Touch League Playoffs

by Bob Lipman

• PHI ALPHA, led by the pin-point passing of Herb Kushner, romped over the Newman club 35-6 Sunday, and earned the right to meet Delta Tau Delta for the Intramural Touch Football Championship.

The Newman club, who had beat AEPI earlier in the day to win the League A championship, held Phi Alpha scoreless in the first quarter. The lines of both teams played heads-up football, as neither team could muster up an offensive threat.

Herb Kushner, Phi Alpha's "all-American" tailback, hit Artie Baker for a score that covered 25 yards in the second quarter. The next time Phi Alpha had control of the ball Kushner's arm found Baker again and Phi Alpha scored its second TD. The extra point came on Kushner's pass to Warren Danick. Phi Alpha led 13-0 at half-time.

On the second play of the third quarter Herb Kushner lofted a long pass to Baker which covered 60 yards for another touchdown. The extra point was made and Phi Alpha led 20-0.

The Newman club shifted its offense into high gear late in the third quarter. Short passes from Babe Marshall to Bob Clements and an interference penalty brought the ball down to the Phi Alpha 25-yard line. On the next play Baker intercepted a Marshall pass and it appeared the Lions' threat was stopped. But Frank Merduras intercepted Kushner's pass and the Newman club was back in business.

Babe Marshall hit Merduras on the three and then the impossible happened as Marshall swept his own left end for the score. This was the first time this season that Phi Alpha has been scored upon!

The final Phi Alpha scores came in the fourth quarter as Herb Kushner took the kick-off and went up the middle for a 70-yard touchdown run. The extra point was good and Phi Alpha led 27-6. The last Phi Alpha TD came on a 40-yard aerial from Kushner to Danick. The extra point was good and Phi Alpha won 35-6. Herb Kushner had himself a great afternoon as he threw four touchdown passes and ran 70 yards for a fifth score.

Delta Tau Delta vs. SAE

Delta Tau Delta won their playoff game 8-0 over SAE and set the stage for the Phi Alpha game in two weeks. The Delts controlled the ball for nearly the entire game as SAE's defense couldn't stop their attack. The first quarter was highlighted by Delt Tom Smith's 30-yard run, which put the ball on the SAE's 18-yard line. Penalties then pushed the Delts upfield and their scoring attempt was halted.

All the scoring came in the second quarter. Tom Smith hit Stan Fortner with a touchdown pass. The extra point was no good and the Delts led 6-0. On the kick-off the ball was dead on the SAE six yard line. Stan Fortner crashed through the SAE line and tagged Tom McCan for a safety. This completed the scoring as the Delts won 8-0.

The protest lodged against Pi Kappa Alpha was voted on last Wednesday by the Intramural Council. The protest was upheld by an 8-7 vote. Pi Kappa Alpha had to forfeit three of its games, thus causing the playoff between AEPI and the Newman club. A motion was passed that put Pike in the record books as losing the games instead of forfeiting them.

AEPI vs. Newman Club

In one of the most exciting games of the year, the Newman club triumphed over AEPI 6-6, the winner being determined by the greater number of first downs.

Sailing Team Places Tenth

• THE SAILING TEAM, one of the most successful minor sports at G. W., will be basking in more than its usual share of the spotlight during the next two weeks. After participating in the Navy Invitational meet November 18 and 19, the G street sailors will be busily preparing for the annual Frostbite Regatta held December 1 and 2.

The team has received enough seasoning for its big home event in the Navy Invitational, having sailed in the six previous outings. This meet, one of the top in the country, includes the large number of thirteen schools.

Sailing for G. W. were: Rick Davies, Pete Gianakakis, Jane O'Brien, Virginia Raven, Betty Barry and George Collins. The final results of the match found G. W. placing tenth behind winner Boston University.

And if our sailing squad has anything to say about it, G. W. will soon boast an affair of like caliber. This year's tenth annual Frostbite Regatta will be fairly important national meet. Held at the Corinthian Yacht club on December 1 and 2, Washington's biggest sailing week end will find Georgetown, Maryland and Princeton, Lehigh, M. I. T. and Fordham, hosted by George Washington.

Trophies will be awarded and the first day of the meet will be highlighted by a dance at the Washington Canoe club at 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, the first of December.

• AN INSPIRED Citadel eleven bottled up G. W. for nearly three quarters Saturday, but the Colonials finished strong, scoring 14 points in the final period, to blast the Bulldogs, 20-0, at Charleston, S. C.

The Buff ended its season with seven wins, one loss and one tie in compiling its best record since 1936. The '36 team also had a 7-1-1 mark, the best in Colonial history. G. W. finished with a 5-1 record in the Southern Conference, also the best showing it has ever achieved. The 1956 season has been a great one!

Citadel nearly threw a monkey wrench in the works Saturday, however, as they were a rampaging outfit in the first half and held the Buff to a 0-0 deadlock at 53 yards. Pete also booted a 55-yard punt late in the third quarter.

But quarterback Ray Looney was the key figure in the victory. After Jack Henzes was injured early in the game—which turned out to be a serious brain concussion, Looney directed the Colonials the rest of the afternoon and turned in a great job. The 185 pounder from Glassport, Pa., scored two touchdowns on 49 and one-yard runs and also booted an extra point. Looney nearly tallied another score as he was hauled down from behind after scampering 51 yards to the Citadel nine yard line. His 12-yard pass to Paul Thompson, the only G. W. completion of the day, set up the first Buff touchdown.

Looney Scores

Things looked dismal indeed for the Colonials midway in the third quarter, being held scoreless by the Citadel, and the Bulldogs in possession on their own 33. But following a 13-yard penalty, Ed Sakach recovered a fumble on the Citadel 22-yard line. After Bo Austin picked up two, Looney tried two passes, both missing their target. On the crucial fourth down play, Looney connected with Thompson to the nine. Austin smashed to the one in two attempts and Looney sneaked over the next play. Claypool missed the extra point.

Henzes Back

• JACK HENZES, B team quarterback, is doing well after suffering a severe brain concussion Saturday. Henzes has been resting in a hospital at Charleston and was scheduled to return to Washington, D. C. yesterday. Trainer Harry Ledford had been staying with Henzes.

intermission. The Bulldogs were rebounding from a 46-0 swamping at the hands of Villanova the previous week and appeared to have an upset in the making. But the Colonials capitalized on a fumble near the end of the third quarter to score their first touchdown and featured two long runs in the last stanza to ice the game.

Spera Leading Rusher

Pete "Charley Brown" Spera, senior halfback, finished his collegiate career in grand fashion. Spera was the leading ground gainer with 113 yards in 12 carries and had two long runs of 45 and

IT'S FOR REAL! by Chester Field

PHILOSOPHY FOR TODAY

"You ask me why I smile," he said,
"When H-Bombs hang above my head,
My car's a wreck... my gal has fled
My money's gone... I'm in the red...
Why do I smile?... You ask me why?
CHESTERFIELDS! THEY SATISFY!"

MORAL: Everything looks bright with your Chesterfield alight! Cheer up every smoking moment with more real flavor, more real enjoyment.
Smile, friend... with the smoothest-tasting smoke today, packed more smoothly by AGU-RAY!

Like your pleasure big?...
Smoke for real... smoke Chesterfield!
